Calata Zingari, passenger quay reconstruction goes ahead

27 October 2021

The reconstruction of the Calata Zingari quay in Genoa's passenger port is underway. The works are scheduled to be completed by 2022, with the reopening of the dock and the adjacent area catering for cruise passenger arrivals and departures and vessel handling services.

The restructuring plan foresees the retrofit of the quay and the redevelopment of the original stone and brickwall of Calata Zingari which was built over seventy years ago.
The construction works have been contracted by the Western Ligurian Sea Port Authority to the companies Mentucci Aldo and Spartacus.
